It was reported later that a man answering Judge Peet's description was thrown off a Gulf Coast train at midnight and that he had a coating of feathers. The victim said a lone bandit entered his hotel at about 10 o'clock Monday morning and demanded for a room. He was beaten and then taken to a room, where he was stripped, the manager beat him, tied him up, wrapped him in a sheet and stuffed a handkerchief in his mouth for a gag. CHICAGO, March 20.—Three bandits who robbed the State Bank at Eatonville this afternoon were later captured by a posse of citizens. $1,000 taken in the robbery was recovered.

Two members of the posse, scouting ahead of the main posse, came upon the robbers, whose automobile had broken down. They disengaged the bandits with rifles and held them until the others arrived.

The three robbers drove up in front of the bank five minutes before the bank was closing. J. E. Raley, cashier, and Mrs. Rose Burg, bookkeeper, were the only persons in the bank. One of the robbers covered them with a gun and conducted them to a room, where they lay down in the shades and the third began gathering up all the money.

The bandits then walked to their car and drove away. They did not lock the bank door, and within a minute Raley had given the alarm and business men and others started in pursuit of the robbers.

MONDEL'S STATEMENT.

"The legislative situation relating to the bonus bill was fully presented to the President with detailed explanation of the provisions which remove the menace of extreme discrimination in the treasury in the immediate future and avoid any program of added taxation. The President went over the entire situation with an appraisal of commitments made," he advised. "He advised the legislation is the responsibility of Congress, and in view of expressions previously made

PRIDEON IS ELIMINATED.

Arounding opponents of the treaty of "waving the bloody shirt" meaning to "find some meaning, some terrible subversion of American rights, the international agreement, Mr. Hoover said that the treaty eliminates causes of friction between nations and at the same time permits America to reduce the tremendous cost of naval armament and still "maintain a sufficient defense of the American people in any event that may come to us."

"The usual bitter controversy has been raised over the ratification of the treaty," he said. "It is evident that the representatives of the Senate have been actuated by some sense of the things which are involved in the matter. I am sure that the Senate will take the right course in this matter."

FLORIDA CLEAN-UP.

Working From Miami Make Many and Gather up Much Liquor.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

MARCH 20.—Fancy special government agents, disguised as men each, acting under the direction of Col. G. C. Nutt, acting Federal prohibition director, began their clean-up campaign today from Miami.

They are to search every corner and house, and have made arrests. They have made arrests.

On Monday morning, the agents were in the streets of Miami, and the Commissioner of Police, Col. G. C. Nutt, without any difficulty, obtained the services of the Miami Police Department.

At the end of the day, the agents had secured many grapefruit or tomatoes to cover up their tracks.

DEALS ARE CLOSED.

More than a dozen of our investigators, Col. Nutt said, "on the first day's operation, reported to the office of the attorney general, and in two instances negotiations were closed, with the aid of bankers, all of which will be revealed shortly in court procedure.

The attorney general has the law been violated, and in several instances the principal offices of punchboards operated by prominent cigar stands were seized of liquor. Our investigators were only able to winnows of G. C. Nutt, who is in charge of the investigation at Miami against liquor smugglers. Commissioner Haynes said today.

ARBUCKLE TRIAL HALTED.

Attempt to Dismiss Juror Already Sworn Is Obstacle That Prevents Taking of Evidence.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Attempts of the prosecution to remove Juror Edward W. Brown on the ground of bias and prejudice, despite the fact that he had already been accepted and sworn, featured the session today in the third trial of Roscoe C. Arbuckle.

A witness was called on two occasions during the day on account of the Brown matter, the first, to allow the defense to prepare an argument in the juror's support, and the second to allow the court to make its decision on the question of the conclusion of the defense and answering arguments.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Friedman at the trial announced that the prosecution wished to exercise its last peremptory challenge on Brown, and that he had done so. He said that the juror, a grocer, had been twice prosecuted for alleged violations of the State pure food laws and that he had a prejudicial record.

The defense attorney, Gavin McNab, replied that the District Attorney was cognizant of all of the facts he should have challenged Brown before he was finally sworn.

REDS CAUSE OF FAMINE.

American-Russian Relief Committee Tells Senate Committee Leaders Took Crops Away.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The Russian government was charged with a large share of responsibility for present famine conditions in Russia in a statement made today to the Senate Agriculture Committee, which is considering further Russian relief, by Frank Connes, a member of an American Russian relief committee.

"When it is claimed that the famine conditions are due to drought, it is not so," said Mr. Connes, who accompanied Capt. Paxton Hibben and other relief commissioners through the Russian famine district last summer.

"The government demanded and the peasants cheerfully gave 60 per cent of all produce of farms. Then the government came by force and took the remaining 40 per cent. Peasants told me time and time again that had the government not taken this 40 per cent many of these (famine) conditions need not have happened."

Mr. Connes declared more American relief was necessary, and estimated the additional amount necessary at $100,000,000. He characterized the famine

HOOVER LAUDS POWELL'S LIFE.*Memorial Service is Held for Late Executive.*Kept Nation Fed in War, Declares Secretary.*Spontaneity of Aid Held Great Attribute.

The late G. Harold Powell's achievements as general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange and as chief of the perishable food distribution division of the Food Administration during the war were recalled yesterday at a memorial service held in the Morocco Theater. For eighteen months, without a penny expense, Mr. Powell had toiled with the Food Administrator Hoover in keeping the nation supplied with food.

"My acquaintance with Mr. Powell began when I asked him to come to Washington to help me consult with him and read knowledge from his great mind. Always, when stupendous problems confronted the Agricultural Department, G. Harold Powell was the first man to be called in for his advice."

"Above all, he was a man of great honesty of mind, of great organization and his system of distribution, had kept the nation from starving and his system developed by Mr. Powell in his food supply work always on the move during the trying months."

"All these were qualities of great generalship," he said, "but they are a great tribute to the character and the ability of the man. One of his greatest qualities was his simplicity of character and for his deeds during the war Mr. Powell deserved the gratitude of the American people."

"Five times I asked him to come to Washington to help me consult with him and read knowledge from his great mind. Always, when stupendous problems confronted the Agricultural Department, G. Harold Powell was the first man to be called in for his advice."

The memorial service was attended by approximately 1,000 friends and former employees of Mr. Powell.

HOOVER BACKS PEACE TREATY.

"This is the first practical and substantial contribution to peace that the problem of disarmament. It is not only a step to the race for armaments, but it is more, in that it provides an agreed ratio of strength. The ratio will be settled on the basis of the present military strength of the Americas, while full unity of the Americas' people could be obtained. There is that unity except among a few who prefer measures of force to measures of good will in our international relations. [Applause.]

"It seems to me that the simple question is, 'Do we want disarmament?' If we do want it, then it must be brought about by agreements under which others reduce their arms also. We cannot sacrifice the safety of America by a Quixotic disengagement ourselves alone."

"Nor is the matter so simple as an agreed limitation and ratios of capital ships and other weapons. We must eliminate the alliance of other nations which in such agreed combinations would again overtop our protection. Far beyond this, we must secure an elimination of the malice causes of friction between ourselves and our neighbors before we can afford to even discuss the reduction of our arms."

REDUCE NAVAL EXPENDITURE.

"In consequence, the administration has negotiated a series of agreements which do eliminate the causes of friction with our neighbors, which do place us in position to reduce our naval strength in common with others, and to maintain a complete defense of the Americas' people in any event that may come to us, and above all we start the train of far fewer of good will which are the foundation of peace. [Applause.]

"None of our opponents has yet suggested that our agreed ratio of strength does not leave the defense of America unguaranteed. They object to one thing. That is, the disarmament agreement that should friction arise in the Pacific we will consult together. Article II is the storm center of this contention. It reads very simply,

"There is a practical result in method of the Washington conference that should not be overlooked. That is the demonstration that until Europe has solved its own shelling and armament problems, the only certainty of definite and tangible steps lies in attempting a narrow group of problems by a limited number of nations most directly concerned in the problem."

"This example will enable the continent of Europe to enter upon those steps that will yield a reduction of her land armament and thus lay the foundations upon which economic reconstruction can be safely laid."

DIFFER IN JUDGMENT.

"Those who are in the opposition to this treaty are those who believe that arms are the path to peace. To those honest contenders, we can simply differ in opinion and judgment. The world has paid increasing arms for fifty years and finally killed 10,000,000 men."

"To me this is the first effective step in the moral reconstruction of the world. It is a real response to the world's prayer for substitution of strength of armament for measures of force in settlement of international difficulties. [Long applause.]

"Looking at the results solely from our American point of view we can consider ourselves fortunate in this accomplishment. The jingoism of war has been most assuredly driven beyond our generation. Naval rivalry with England has been stopped with all the implications which most follows from that rivalry. Thirty years ago England said that for herself she should maintain the same dominance of the seas that she has held for 200 years. Today she agrees to abandon that contention in equality with us. The Anglo-Japanese alliance has been dissolved.

"The points of friction between ourselves and Japan have been settled. The major difficulties between Japan and China have been adjusted so that good will may prevail in that part of the Far East. The tide of foreign aggression on the frontier of China has been turned back. The open door to commerce and industry of all nations in China has at last been made effective. [Cheers and applause.]

"With all these solutions a vast majority of major political forces have been uprooted, which, if unchecked, would have driven us into war. The world could not go on in these rivalries in implements to kill, rivalries that were based on growing political irritations without entering upon the stream of human destiny. [Prolonged applause.]

BY DR. BARROWS.

Dr. Barrows, preceding Mr. Hoover on the evening's program, spoke on "Our Party—Its Responsibilities" saying that the party's principle of "meeting all demands of justice and integrity and enlisting the good will of the great powers."

"There are some very practical results to every man, woman and child in America from this agreement. We agree on measures that will bring an immediate reduction in taxes, but beyond that, had we continued in our naval rivalry and with the program we had before us, our naval expenditures would have doubled within another decade. Had we gone on we would have spent in twenty-five years a sum greater than the German reparations."

"The economic gains of this limitation of naval armaments are not to be measured wholly in tax saving in our taxes today, nor even in the relief to us of further expanded expenditure. The real gain comes in the way of confidence and hope in the world. The only proof of how closely or how intimately intertwined are these issues with our own business life is the tremendous loss in exchange between countries in consequence in the three days after it assembled. [Applause.]

SETS NEW STANDARD.

"The conference stands successfully in something more and equally precious. It set another standard of advance in its frankness and sincerity. It is a kind of diplomatic trading or diplomatic maneuver. [Cheers.] Our President and our Secretary of State spoke from the American heart in the fashion of the American people. Our delegates in the world were inspired with the same sincerity, the same frankness and the same patience. Here was a demonstration that men of nine nations of all sizes and all sorts of divergent racial characters, of different national points of view, and successfully consummated a tangible and practical step for the world's welfare without ceremony, without sacrifice of national dignity or national sovereignty. Each and every one of the governments in the conference turns to its own people with some addition to the world of practical gain."

"There is a practical result in method of the Washington conference that should not be overlooked. That is the demonstration that until Europe has solved its own shelling and armament problems, the only certainty of definite and tangible steps lies in attempting a narrow group of problems by a limited number of nations most directly concerned in the problem."

"This example will enable the continent of Europe to enter upon those steps that will yield a reduction of her land armament and thus lay the foundations upon which economic reconstruction can be safely laid."

NO ONE NATION TO BLAME.

"Nor do I sympathize with those who claim that one nation is responsible for Europe in this matter. No one blames anyone of the great naval powers for the race of naval armament, and there is in Europe the same sort of fears fermenting among the foreign publics of the Atlantic and Western Europe. Disarmament by nations must march in step. Nor do I underestimate the terrible wrongs done before and during the war, the justifiable conduct of the League of Nations in return of those dangers."

"But having built the first great pier in the economic reconstruction of the world, are we now to tear it down?"

"Now this question is now fairly a question of disarmament or no disarmament. These agreements are indissolubly bound together. If they fail you may steal your minds not alone for vastly increased burdens in peace, but of more moment than this, you must

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 21, 1922.

Commodore Alexander has made two trips to Europe to lecture over a period of time. Mr. Harding's letter follows:

"My Dear Mr. Robinson:—
I received your letter of February 28 telling me of your plans for your annual Lincoln banquet, and am writing to express my approval of your interest in the celebration of the work of one of the foremost Americans.

"I am sending more inspiring testimony to patriotic sentiments than is afforded by such celebrations. The name of Lincoln will always occupy a particularly exalted place. As the years pass we may find more reason to measure up to his contribution, and appreciate the difficulties under which his service to the nation was rendered. Realizing these things, we cannot but rate him as not merely among the foremost of Americans, but as one of the greatest figures in the world's history. The disposition to study and to draw inspiration from the lessons of his career is one of the gratifying signs of our times. We must have his example to encourage and inspire the young to bring him to the support of our country in these times, and from no source will we draw more, or more effective support for the best interests of Americans, than from the life of Lincoln."

Chairman Adams, following the Lincoln Club on its efforts to through steps of agreements among men—agreements based upon mutual, just and upon humanity. The Washington conference is birth to the first agreements for reduction of arms after fifty years of continuous increasing armament with its long sequence of international conferences. [Applause.] These treaties will be ratified. Then will be ratified because they represent the moral wish of the American people. They are a response to the principles of the common people of the world that a nation of good will shall be substituted for a curse of force. It is my belief that the conference has moral and inspirational values that cannot be measured today. I believe it represents the highest ideal of humanity. The world will be bettered by the administration of the Republics' policies are being straightened, hundreds of millions have been saved by efficient administration, a real American foreign policy has been inaugurated, and many restorative policies are gradually being adopted.

"We have every reason to feel proud of what the Republican administration has accomplished during the eleven months it has been in power in Washington. The tangible left by the administration are being straightened, hundreds of millions have been saved by efficient administration, a real American foreign policy has been inaugurated, and many restorative policies are gradually being adopted.

POSTAL BILL CAUSES FIGHT.

Amended Measure Finally Passes Senate.

Provides Money for Federal Highways.

Restores Service by New York Mail Tubes.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
WASHINGTON, March 20.—The postoffice bill, carrying $625,772,000, was passed late today by the Senate after a heated fight. The measure carries $63,209,000 more than was passed by the House, $50,000,000 of the increase going for Federal highway aid.

The bill also contains provisions for restoring to service the New York pneumatic mail tubes and for continuing the New York to San Francisco air-mail service. The Senate's amendment to the number of executive orders he has issued removing postoffices from civil service classification. The resolution went over under the rules.

FIGHT ON APPOINTMENTS.

A fight centering around postal postmaster appointments originated in discussions of the bill introduced just before adjournment of the Senate in the introduction by Senator

Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, of resolution calling on the President to supplemental legislation to supply the civil service commissioner with executive order so that he can appoint the postmaster in

The amendment involved $25,

000,000, required two hours of debate and was voted down 41 to 21, before it was finally put into the bill.

As for the New York tubes,

Senator McKeever, Democrat, Ten-

ssee, who introduced the resolution giving its approval to some thing that is dangerous, a brazen steal of Federal funds."

DEFEATS AMENDMENTS.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, predicted that another generation would see the construction of such tubes for the transportation of the mail throughout the country, in the more limited districts such as congested areas of

New York.

During consideration of the amendment to increase the number of postoffices from 416 to 512, the Senate defeated an amendment by Senator McKeever to increase the number only thirty-instead of 180. Senator Harrison's amendment was defeated by a vote of 41 to 21, and carried.

DECIDE PIMA IS BEST PRODUCER.To be Only Kind Raised in Salt River Valley.Season to See Change in Bale Wrapping.Growers Plan to Handle Own Labor.*

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH. PHOENIX, March 20.—Pima long-staple will continue to be the only cotton produced in the Salt River Valley. Close investigation by the government experimental stations has developed the fact that this variety not only produces the best and longest staple on the market, but actually gives a heavier yield per acre in this valley than any of the medium-staple varieties, while selling at a price much higher than Lone Star, Arizona or Durango.

This season will see a radical change in the manner of wrapping for the Pima cotton. Only the stoutest material will be used and efforts to be made to economize. The new baling will cost an additional dollar a bale, but is believed to be well worth the cost. At present much of the local crop arrives in the eastern mill warehouses in very bad shape. There is a heavy deduction of one-half pound for the bale wrapping.

WILDLIFE LABOR.

Under the direction of Cotton Growers' Association will handle the labor supply in the cotton fields as well as procuring W. H. Knot, manager of the association, lately made a trip through several countries "to secure information concerning the question." It is proposed that the association regulate all matters of pay and housing. It is expected there will be no need for calling upon Mexico this year for laborers since that an ample supply of Americans can be secured in the fall for the somewhat lowered acreage dropped.

TUMA MEERA THRIVES.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH. TUMA, March 20.—There has been successful test of the new pumping plant for Unit B of the Tuma mesa, when the canals were filled for the first time.

There is expert testimony that the exceptionally cold weather of the winter and early spring has done no damage to citrus or other vegetation on the Tuma mesa.

A Los Angeles corporation, the California-Arizona Cane Sugar Company, has contracted for the growing of sugar cane on a large scale in the South Gila Valley, east of Yuma, and for the erection of a cane sugar mill.

If any, 500 or more plantation hands will be required in the Tuma Valley. With all possible co-operation from the Tuma Farm Bureau, there has been decision to plant the Durango Lone Star and Acaia varieties, all medium staple, on about 20,000 acres.

Large acreages have been planted this season near Tuma of Thompson's seedless grapes, which here mature earlier than elsewhere in the Southwest and which form a profitable crop for eastern shipment.

The Tuma National Farm Loan Association has been formed here to take advantage of the national Farm Loan Act.

DECISION TO LIGHTEN CALIFORNIA TREASURY.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE. SACRAMENTO, March 20.—Superior Judge Buck today sustained a demurser to a suit brought in the name of the State against the Yosemite Lumber Company for the purpose of determining whether the Legislature had the right to impose a tax for carrying on of vocational re-education or rehabilitation of disabled workers, and whether the State controller had the right to collect the tax.

As a result of the decision the state will be required to refund approximately $17,000 to various employees and state will be liable to collect approximately $100,000 now due unless the State Supreme Court should reverse Judge Buck's decision.

BLACKMAILERS ARE CAUGHT WITH GOODS.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, March 20.—Two alleged blackmailers were caught yesterday walking from Van Cortlandt Park with money which Robert Silverman, a wealthy contractor, had been ordered to place in his safe.

A letter to Silverman demanded that he "come across with $10,000," but the bundle left under the tree contained only one dollar bill, half placed by detectives who arrested the men.

One of the prisoners, said he was Lawrence Gentile, 22, a foreman who was laid off by Silverman two months ago. The other was Louis Pecoraro, 22, a laborer. Both were privates in the A. F. F.

USE SEAPLANES IN SMUGGLING GAME.

BY A. P. DAY WIRE. SEATTLE, March 20.—Federal customs agents today began investigation of reports that seaplanes have been operating between Victoria, B. C., and Seattle, smuggling in liquor and narcotics. Major T. Harrison, United States collector of customs here, announced.

One seaplane was seen near Ft. Worden, Wash., by members of the coast guard, a rancher and soldier, according to a report reaching Mr. Harrison.

FLAPPER DRESS IS DEFENDED.Uniformity of Clothes is All Wrong; Does Not Worry Employers.EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.* NEW YORK, March 20.—Uniformity of dress among working girls is all wrong, in the opinion of New York City's employment bureau.

The rather general spread of compulsory working-girl reform among New York (N. J.) banks and department stores recently led to a discussion of the merits and demerits of the regulated attire for female employees, into which the New York municipal employment agency jumped yesterday with a statement that it is the deliberate judgment of the bureau that most employers have no particular prejudice against flapper styles.

"Employers," said the announcement, "are of the general opinion that a dumb-bell can be dressed in flounce attire as well as in the brief dress of the flapper."

TO TREAT INJURED BY RADIO.Public Health Doctors to Respond to Ship Calls by Wireless Device.BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.*

NEW YORK, March 20.—The United States government, through the public health service, has undertaken long-distance treatment by radio of sick and injured marines aboard vessels which do not boast a ship doctor.

Dr. K. Sprague, senior surgeon of a service hospital, orders from Surgeon-General Cummings directing all public health doctors to respond promptly to radio calls for advice "in language intelligible to laymen."

Dr. Sprague treated his first "radio case" Saturday night, responding to a call from the freighter Chester Valley on board which a sailor was ill.

He sent a doctor on the ship, who carried out his instructions, replied, saying, "patient is improved, thanks."

WOMEN BARRED AT TRIAL OF RICKARD.NONE WILL BE PERMITTED IN COURT IN HEARING OF ASSAULT CASE.BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.*

NEW YORK, March 20.—Women are to be barred from the courtroom during the trial of Tex Rickard. Justice Wasservogel made that announcement today when Rickard was placed on trial for the murder of his 15-year-old daughter Sarah Schoenfeld.

Three women who sought admittance to the courtroom were stopped by attaches. No casual spectators were permitted in the courtroom today because the large numbers of taken up capacity.

It was estimated that several days would be required to fill the jury box. After the trial actually began masculine spectators only will be permitted.

Five tentative members of the jury had been seated in the jury box at adjournment this afternoon.

The jurors already selected are: Samuel J. E. architect; foreman; L. Nash, engineer; C. L. Ferris, engineer; George Cline, Jr., sales manager; and Edward Aarons, manufacturer.

HARDING TO GREET LONG BEACH DINERS.BY EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.*

WASHINGTON, March 20.—President Harding will send a message of encouragement and good will to the diners in the Long Beach harbor in connection with the movement on foot to develop the harbor at a municipal enterprise. This he promised today to Congressman Lineberger.

The dinner is to be held at the Long Beach Yacht Club.

The dinner will be required to refund approximately $17,000 to various employees and state will be liable to collect approximately $100,000 now due unless the State Supreme Court should reverse Judge Buck's decision.

Is your life story worth $500 or $2000?

MOTION picture producers pay as high as $2000 and rarely offer less than $500 for original screen stories. And yet their demands for stories cannot be supplied. In the last six months newspapers and film companies have offered more than $50,000 in scenario contest prizes, all to secure new stories and to encourage new screen writers. Very likely your life holds stories worth telling—and selling.

As These People Did

RECENTLY a California school teacher; a Pennsylvania newspaper reporter; an underpaid office man in Utah; a prisoner in the Arizona State Penitentiary and many others sold their stories at handsome prices, became studio staff writers or won big sums of money in scenario contests because they studied screen writing to get away from routine work. Not one of these was a recognized author; not one was a master of literary skill. All were sought and discovered by a photoplay corporation in search of undeveloped screen writing talent through a novel questionnaire test. You have the same opportunity as they had, and grasp it.

Send for the Free Van Loan Questionnaire

H. H. Van Loan, the well known scenarist, is responsible for the invention of the novel questionnaire which has uncovered hidden photoplay dramatists in all walks of life. With Malcolm McLean, formerly professor of short-story writing at Northwestern University, he hit upon the happy idea of adapting tests which were used in the United States Army and applying them to this search for story-telling ability.

The results have been phenomenal. In the recent J. Parker Read, Jr. competition, all three prizes, amounting to $5000, were awarded to students of the Palmer Photoplay Corporation, which is conducting this search by means of the Van Loan Questionnaire.

The experiment has gone far enough to prove conclusively (1) that many people who do not at all suspect their ability, can write scenarios; and that (2) this free questionnaire does prove to the man or woman who sends it for whether he or she has ability enough to warrant development.

An evening with this novel device for self-examination is highly fascinating as well as useful. It is a simple test applied in your own home. Its record is held confidential by the Corporation.

The Palmer Photoplay Corporation offers you this free test because—

Scores of Screen Stories Are Needed by Producers

Scores of good stories could be sold at once if they were available. The Palmer Photoplay Corporation exists first of all to sell photoplays to producers. Its Educational Department was organized for one purpose and one only—to develop screen writers whose stories it can sell.

Look over the list of leaders in the motion-picture industry who form its advisory council. These leaders realize (1) that the future of the screen drama is absolutely dependent upon the discovery and training of new writers. The realistic (2) that writing ability and story-telling ability are two entirely different gifts. Only a few can write; many can tell a story, and with training, can tell it in scenario form. The Palmer Photoplay Corporation is finding these story tellers in homes and offices all over the land.

You Are Invited to Try; Clip the Coupon

The whole purpose of this advertisement is to invite you to take the Van Loan Questionnaire up to this point, your interest is sufficient to warrant addressing the invitation to you directly. In all sincerity, and with the interests of the motion-picture industry at heart, the Palmer Photoplay Corporation extends to you its cordial invitation to try. Who can tell what the reward may be in your case?

For your convenience the coupon is printed on this page. The questionnaire is free and your request for it incurs no obligation on your part.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE:

PASADENA, March 20.—Michael Dolan, aged 21 years, a student at Pasadena High School, was fixing a doorbell at his home, 1204 Breaux avenue today, using copper wire. There was a dynamite cap attached to one piece of wire, which he had borrowed from a neighbor, and when he made the connection with the battery, to try the bell, the current exploded the cap.

Bits of the copper cap were blown into his body. He was seriously, but not fatally, injured.

FALLS FROM CLIFF.

George Quirin, aged 17, of 116 East Seventy-first street, Los Angeles, is at the Pasadena Hospital recovering from a fractured skull and other injuries as a result of a fall of 100 feet from the Sturdevant Trail, below Echo Rock, in the Sierra Madre Mountains. He was on a weekend trip with three companions.

Quirin landed on a ledge of ice and snow overlooking Winter Creek. His companions unable to obtain help, sent Sam Wilson to obtain help. Sam, son of S. H. Mitchell, station foreman, who saw the train bearing down upon her, resulted in her death.

It was Miss Harding's daily custom to walk down the tracks to the packhouse where she had been employed for several years.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Henry Hall, and two sisters, Penny Harding and Willa Hall. The train, which was traveling at 45 miles an hour, derailed at the Todd & Reavis parlors in Pomonas, where the funeral services will be conducted Thursday morning. Interment will be at the Evergreen Cemetery, La Verne.

SCHOOL BONDS URGED.

Another school bond issue, to provide for further extension of the Pasadena High School, was urged at an open meeting conducted by the Parent-Teacher Federation at the Muir school this evening.

Datus C. Smith urged that the school district join with the municipality and present bond issues totalling $15,000,000 at a special election this spring. The city has already planned a bond election with issues totalling $15,000,000 for public improvements.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of the Department of Commerce, will come to Pasadena tomorrow evening, but not to make a public appearance. Instead, he will be the guest of Mrs. Clara M. DIES IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH:]

Wreck Near Tehachapi Costs Life and Big Loss of Property.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH:]

BAKERSFIELD, March 20.—Walter Houts, 30 years of age, was crushed to death under a flat car, and live stock and fruit valued at several thousands of dollars were destroyed or lost when a northbound Southern Pacific freight train ran into a track 20 yards of March, six miles north of Tehachapi, yesterday morning. The accident was caused by the collapse of a wheel. Nine cars were piled up. At 10:30 a.m. when the wheel broke.

Thirteen men riding in one box car escaped uninjured.

The car on which the wheel broke was near the middle of the train, and when it became smashed, the center portion of the train into a mass of splintered wood, twisted metal and crushed perishables. Thirty hogs belonging to S. Swanson, of Arvin, were killed.

Three hundred of the animals, comprising a consignment being shipped to Sacramento, were liberated after the wreck and are working over the hills.

Hours later a second car between two cars was crushed beyond recognition. His body fell beneath the overturned flat car, and was not extricated until two hours after the crash. The remains were recovered by Dr. L. G. Helm, who visited the scene of the wreck, and a message was sent to the dead man's mother in Tipton, Ind.

GERMANY MUST FULFILL PACT.

Newly Named Ambassador Gives Views.

No Turning Back is Now Possible.

Thinks America Can Aid All Europe.

BY GEORGE SELDEN.

BY CARL—EXCELSIOR DISPATCH.

ESSEN, March 20.—"I was opposed to Germany's acceptance of the Treaty of Versailles and the London ultimatum. Once they were accepted, however, I saw that no other course was open than to do our utmost to fulfill the conditions imposed upon us, and by our honest attempt at fulfillment show their impossibility.

"It was for this reason that I and the Krupp supported Chancellor Wirth in the recent Cabinet crisis provoked by attempts to remove him because of his supposed acceptance of all the Entente's demands.

"There may have been doubts as to the wisdom of his course, which he originally entered upon, but he has turned back as far as possible now. For Germany today the only possible policy is the Wirth policy of non-alignment.

"The presence of so many city chiefs at the conference led to the impression that the discussion with the President on the possible injection of the arms conference treaties into the coming Congressional campaign, but some of the Senators who attended said that Mr. Harding had given the latest information to the line-up on the four-power treaty ratification vote to be taken Friday. It was said that the President had told his colleagues of the non-alignment reservation drafted by the Foreign Relations Committee and was told there were enough votes pledged to ratify the treaty on its hearing.

Late in the day the President called in two Democratic Senators, Smith of South Carolina and Kendrick of Wyoming, for a discussion of the treacherous situation. The Senators on leaving the White House were asked if they had been informed of the non-alignment reservation drafted by the Foreign Relations Committee and was told there were enough votes pledged to ratify the treaty on its hearing.

No explanation was made by the President of the order amending the decision reached some months ago to bring home all of the Army of Occupation with the exception of 149 officers and 221 men. Since that order the Coblenz Army has been reduced from 16,000 officers and men to approximately 4,000 officers and men. Now all will come home.

REPARATIONS PROBLEM.

In these words Dr. Otto Wiedfeld, the newly appointed German Ambassador to the United States, who is awaiting America's approval of the armament reduction, said yesterday that the main problem that will confront him at Washington. In this interview, the first and only one so far granted to any correspondent since his name was first mentioned for the ambassadorship, Dr. Wiedfeld laid particular stress upon the point of American co-operation on the restoration of Europe.

"My chief problem will be the reparations question," said Dr. Wiedfeld, "and everything else as it looks to me now will be but a minor affair until that problem is settled satisfactorily. The settlement of the reparations problem is impossible without America's participation. America is interested in Europe's affairs and it is hard to see how she can keep out of them permanently now."

HAS DIRECT INTEREST.

"American assistance can be direct and indirect. America, for example, can suggest remedies for Europe's dilemma that would not come from any European power on the ground that they were precluded. America has a direct interest in the creation of reparations which will have to come to express itself sooner or later. My own position is that Germany would be more than delighted to lay her entire reparations debt of $12,000,000,000 gold marks ($12,000,000,000) on the Entente's table today. However, the German could be dissatisfied for the Entente and I think that it is becoming clear that it would be just as disastrous even though the money is paid in the prescribed instalments.

"The Russian question is always delicate, but Germany must trade with Russia to the extent of her ability. A few million unemployed in America would denote a very serious economic crisis, but a few million unemployed in Germany would denote political changes. Business with Russia may provide a way out."

DENIED BY CRAVATH.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Paul D. Cravath tonight issued a statement denying he ever had said Senator Borah quoted him in the Senate that there was an unwritten agreement that the United States and Great Britain should act together in any emergency.

"There is not the remotest fact in the statement reported to have been made by Senator Borah in the Senate, in which my name was used," he said. "It is pure romance. I cannot make my denial too strong and unequivocal."

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

The announcement today came in the form of an official statement from the Secretary of War Weeks as follows:

"Some months ago the President directed that the troops in Europe, at least in excess of 2000 officers, be withdrawn to the United States by the transport service, which was done and is now in operation. He has now directed that this service be continued until all of the troops have been brought to the United States, which would mean that before the end of the fiscal year the entire force will have been returned. Additional transports will be operated to complete this movement."

DECREASE SHOWN IN COTTON PRODUCTION.

OUTPUT LAST YEAR WAS ALMOST EIGHT MILLION RUNNING BALES.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Cotton production for 1921 was 7,976,665 running bales, or 7,952,359 equivalent 500-pound bales, according to the Bureau of Agriculture, which netted 14,428,603 equivalent 500-pound bales.

The crop was estimated by the Department of Agriculture last week to be 10,000,000 equivalent 500-pound bales.

Round bales included in the crop for 1921 amounted to 123,791 bales, compared with 120,234 bales in 1920.

A mill at Bally Enlaron, and a farm house and a sawmill, north of Londonderry, were burned by a fire.

The mills were owned by men serving in the Ulster constabulary.

Bridges were blown up, telephone and telegraph wires cut and other damage done throughout County Londonderry.

Farther south civilians looted the police barracks at Pomeroy County Tyrone. They carried off sixty rifles and many boxes of ammunition and bombs.

Usually such guerrilla warfare is a forerunner of armed movements.

All South Ireland expects it to come soon.

Ulster's selection of Field Marshal Sir Harry Wilson to organize its militia forces is looked upon here as a direct menace to South Ireland.

According to figures available here, the religious war in Belfast and the surrounding area resulted in death for ninety and the wounding of 281.

The average gross weight of cotton bales for 1920 was 498.4 pounds, compared with 506.4 pounds, the average of the 1920 crop.

The number of ginneries operated was 16,155 compared with 13,440 for 1920.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Union Oil Holding Company Goes Over the Top; Citrus Review; In the Business World.

BY CHAPIN HALL

The Union Oil Holding Company has gone over the top. When the books closed last midnight more than 50 per cent of the stock of the Union Oil Company of California had been pledged. Additional stock placed in the mails prior to the closing hour is expected to add materially to the total which it was announced yesterday would be a "substantial majority."

The victory for the California company was thus summarized by Isaac Milbank: "The success of the entire movement has been due to the spirit with which every one concerned has met this issue. We started to gather this stock in a company basis. The fundamental principles involved, however, were so great that the entire business world became interested. The support received has been almost unbelievable. Not only stockholders, but men who have never owned a share of Union Oil stock have canvassed that friends the world over have been a unit in the support of this movement—all because the question involved is the saving of an American company to America, to California, to Los Angeles, and the headquarters of a Los Angeles company to Los Angeles."

CITRUS REVIEW.

Accurate estimates of the damage done to the citrus crop by the freeze last January are now in the hands of officials of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. According to statements which will appear in the Sunburst Courier's April number, the damage is estimated to be the hardest hit of all. It is estimated that only one-half as many navel oranges will be shipped from California after March 1 this year as there were shipped last season from that period on.

Valencias and lemons fared much better. While it is not possible to accurately estimate the Valencia shipments, it is known that these varieties did not suffer severely damage as ravaged due largely to the fact that the principal Valencia producing districts did not experience as low temperatures. It is predicted that this variety will ship slightly earlier than usual next month earlier than usual in order to fill in on the navel shortage.

There is every indication that lemons escaped damage to a greater extent than other citrus varieties due to the fact that there is a more general use of orchard heaters and also to the fact that many large lemon-producing districts escaped the extremely low temperatures. The lemon crop for the year promises to exceed that of any previous year with the exception of last season's bumper crop.

Adding to the 1st inst. estimate and future outlook of the market for high-grade investments, Halsey, Stuart & Co. points out in its current bulletin that to the factors which have combined to affect the market to date, the bond market is likely that another important one, bank buying, will be added in the not-far-distant future.

Banks are ordinarily large buyers of bonds for their own account, but during the last few years, because of the large loan accommodations required by their customers to finance the increased demands of their inflationary economy, bank buying has pretty generally been out of the bond market during this period. It is probable that banks will soon resume their bond buying, which will add materially to the already existing demand. This increased demand on the part of banks, however, is not to be expected until the market has become more stable.

While this preference on the part of individuals for the long-term issues, there is nevertheless a growing demand for short-term bonds, the result, no doubt, of renewed buying on the part of banks together with the buying of cor-during the early days of the bonus plan is giving way to a more conservative outlook which more accurately reflects the true financial condition of the country. There has never been any statement of opinion among Los Angeles bankers and financiers over the matter, and they are united in the belief that the passage of such a measure at this time would have a disastrous effect upon the finances of the country, and would result in a volume of frozen loans which might seriously curtail a return to anything like normal conditions.

One of the greatest fears economists have at present is the growing tendency to tamper with our monetary system. The Federal Reserve has been a target for bitter attacks on the mistaken theory that it was responsible for the plight of the farmers and the agricultural districts. The Federal Reserve Board, while it will do no harm, will not accomplish what the farmers want, namely, to expect, namely, that they could be relieved of their debts.

The reduction of the asking-rate, therefore, from 4 per cent a week ago and 3 1/4 on Saturday to 3 5/8 today, showed very significantly the drift of the money market. The present market is now far below the New York Central's 4 1/4 per cent redemptions charge, the movement being on the bank rate also. The present idea is that further reduction by the Federal Reserve is being deferred, and that the market will be disposed of the bonus bill with its proposed huge regulations on bank credit, may or may not be correct; but the change would seem to be due at no very distant date.

The trend of the money market may have been the ruling influence on today's market for investment bonds. As would be natural on that supposition, the United States was down and the day's debt to active trading. Not only did the Victory 4 3/4's nearly touch 101, but the fourth 4 1/4's went beyond the highest ever previously reached and other issues touched the highest. Various foreign government bonds sold at their best prices and in particular a two-point rise in the most reliable bonds brought both the 8 and 7 1/2 per cent to distinct records, 9 and 9 1/2 per cent respectively, above the January lowest. These bonds, however, had for some time been relatively undervalued, mainly because of mistakes notions regarding French political relations.

Today's stock market was chiefly noteworthy because of an effort to bid up prices for the market. The present market is now far below the New York Central, Chicago and Northwest, Baltimore and Ohio and one or two others rose two points or more, the final advance was not maintained, and some of the stocks which were bid up were ended unchanged or lower. The hesitancy of this group of stocks taken as a whole, clearly reflects suspension of judgment until it is seen how soon and far the market will move. The loading of the market is to be translated into statements of increased gross earnings. Industrial shares moved very irregular, professional selling being clearly the dominant influence. Transactions crossed the million-dollar mark for the fourth consecutive time in full day's business and for the eighth time in 1922.

Operations seeking only temporary employment for job funds.

SECURITY MARKET.

The idea still persists in some quarters that the present rising tendency of the stock market is due to the speculative activity of speculators, and, in fact, they call themselves speculators, but if any add proof were needed to sustain the contention that this is a legitimate bull market, it is supplied in the fact that for the first time since the income tax was imposed on March 1, 1913, with stock continuing to rise, instead of recording any temporary reaction.

Money continues plentiful, according to Chafee, and freely on call in Wall street as low as 3 1/2 per cent, duplicating the low figure of a week ago. But it requires more than cheap money to sustain a market rise, and the action of the market at this time is analogous to that of 1919 when the spring rise ran into a bull market, without the seasonal setback. One is inclined to wonder, therefore, if the market will continue to rise, that of 1919. At any rate, the advance continues and there are no clouds on the financial horizon.

KERN VALLEY BANK.

Jonathan C. Clegg, Superintendent of Banks, announced yesterday the record of the Kern Valley Bank of Bakersfield has been closed. This bank failed May 12, 1911, with 1700 creditors and an indebtedness of more than $700,000. During the period of liquidation, dividends had been declared with a total of 77.6 per cent. There had been paid to depositors $520,000, but there was remaining uncalled and undemandable capital of $100,000, the amount having been deposited by the State Treasurer and unless claimed by those whom it belongs will eventually become the property of the State.

STORM CUT SERVICE.

A late winter storm of unusual severity in the Middle West made lots of trouble yesterday, and Los Angeles brooks opened, leased houses without adequate heating most of the day. For this reason the usual complete Times market report is lighter than usual this morning. A complete resumption is promised for today.

WEEK OPENS WELL.

The sudden change in weather conditions yesterday, which precipitated Southern California from winter to an almost midsummer heat wave, took its toll of losses.

FOOD IN STORAGE.

Food supplies continue to accumulate. Although white butter stocks are falling off sharply, last week the number of cases of eggs in storage increased from 7072 to 18,247, but there are only 10,000 pounds of butter left. There have been complaints of 100,771 a week ago. The movement of the other stored commodities is normal, following usual seasonal trends. According to yesterday's cold storage report, local warehouses now hold 425,449 pounds of cheese, 270,931 boxes of apples, 51,240 sacks of potatoes, and 2705 sacks of onions.

WEATHER REPORT.

You Might Exchange Your Securities With Profit

Today's changing conditions, with rising bond prices and consequent decreases in interest rates, affect your present investment holdings and make it advisable in many instances to exchange for different securities.

For example, it might be to your advantage to change a low-interest bond for one returning a higher yield—now while the present opportunity to get safe, high-yield securities continues.

Bring us a list of your present holdings, and let us analyze your securities for you. We may be able to recommend some exchanges which will be profitable to you.

LISTLESS TRADING ON LOCAL MARKET.

Trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday was generally dull and listless. Mining stocks were barely steady while some slight strength was shown by the oil groups. Oatman United continues to weaken and fell off 2 cents to 60. United Americans and Adams were mildly active but sold at unchanged prices. San Francisco Gold advanced 1 cent to 17. Union Oil of California climbed 4 to 18-1/2 and made a high of 18-1/2 during the day. Southern California Oil advanced 1 cent to 50. Southern California Edison common moved up fractionally while Goodyear pre-sold unchanged at 72.

Following are the closing quotations as posted in the Stock Exchange Building yesterday:

STOCKS AND BONDS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

NEW VEGETABLES APPEAR AT MARKET.

LOCAL STRAWBERRIES BRING $12 PER CRATE; GOOD LETTUCE SCARCE.

Supplies of numerous vegetables and fruits were received on the Los Angeles produce market yesterday that they have been at any time this season. Local strawberries sold at $12 per crate. No. 1 and No. 2 San Fran. Peaches were sold at 25 to 40 cents per pound. New potatoes were offered in heavier quantities than usual, but were not scarce. They were good, delicious, open the skin and quality. Some of the stock was of good size and quality. The movement, however, was slow and buyers were not taking them very ready. Artichokes supplied are becoming daily, and prices range from 25 to 35 cents per dozen, according to the quality and size. Very fancy stock arrived yesterday. Asparagus came in from the San Joaquin valley. Fresh Imperial Valley carrots and parsnip shipments at 40 cents per dozen. Carrots are offered at 50 to 60 cents depending on the quality.

Some lettuces are offered, and note as much as usual. Imperial Valley carrots are still scarce, and high prices still rule.

The small green onions were very scarce.

LOS ANGELES

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 21, 1922.—PART II: 12 PAGES.

BATTLE COUNCIL*HOT DOGS, BURY YOUR NAME DEEP!*Chicago Arrives to Re-Christen Delicacy as "Hot Cow and Pig."

Not dog!
Edward Levy came to town yesterday with a terrible grouch. He had planned a vacation in Los Angeles, but the first thing he saw when he stepped from the train was a huge sign with the train inscription:

"Hot dog!"
He got mad and forgot all about his vacation. Had he been any body except Edward Levy the hot dog sign would have been passed unnoticed, but Mr. Levy is the most dangerous enemy the hot dog has today. He is the man who tins a can to the tail of the hot dog and chased it many miles beyond the city limits of Chicago.

Now Mr. Levy—who, by the way is the ex-president of the United Master Butchers of Chicago and a member of the American Meat Institute—had pledged to his constituents to get rid of the hot dog.

In effect, the highest court in the land has recognized the wife's community interest in her husband's property and income, as stipulated in the statutes of California, Washington, Arizona, Texas, Idaho, New Mexico, Louisiana and Nevada, and by fully legalizing the filing of separate income tax returns dividing in most cases what the husband is now taxed on, thus greatly decreasing the tax rate.

In the case of large incomes the saving, and incidentally the amount which the government would have to return, would be considerable. An income man who had $40,000 in income in 1921 and paid the tax upon the entire amount individually, would, by splitting the community income, return, both making separate returns, reduce his anatomical make-up of the hot dog. He only objects to the name.

Mr. Levy emphatically stated last night at Hotel Clark that there's not a bit of dog in the delectable meat product that has so wrongfully been dubbed the hot dog.

He has spent many years in service to his trade and the thousands of Chicago housewives.

Last year he headed a campaign to kill the hot dog for all times. The campaign lasted sixteen weeks and cost the Chicago butchers $10,000.

He also has been instrumental in getting the City Council to pass an ordinance forbidding such use.

Mr. Levy has expressed their desire that the chamber will be the battle ground before the action upon a bill creating a state department or bureaus.

He also has asked that the Council by Committee of Education be given authority to pass an ordinance forbidding such use.

To enlighten those who may believe the hot dog is made of dogs, Mr. Levy submitted the following information:

"The dog or Frankfurts, as he chooses to speak of it, consists of two-thirds beef and one third pork or veal. Simple explanation. Rather than hot dog, it would be more appropriate to call it 'Hot cow and pig.'

Hot dog—it promises to be a pleasant battle.

DECISION CUTS INCOME TAXES.*Supreme Court of United States Rules on Law.*Property Interests of Wives Are Recognized.*California and Seven Other States Will Profit.

Recovery of many hundreds of thousands of dollars paid by Californians to Uncle Sam in inheritance taxes, income taxes and income surtaxes, and future relief of many from heavy tax burdens are expected to follow the ruling of the United States Supreme Court in the California tax case of Blum against Wardell.

In effect, the highest court in the land has recognized the wife's community interest in her husband's property and income, as stipulated in the statutes of California, Washington, Arizona, Texas, Idaho, New Mexico, Louisiana and Nevada, and by fully legalizing the filing of separate income tax returns dividing in most cases what the husband is now taxed on, thus greatly decreasing the tax rate.

Engineer Will Place Fans in Tunnel Today.

City Engineer Griffin's forces will today place in the Third-street tunnel two ventilating blowers, which will completely change the air in the tube every seventeen minutes and remove all of the gases, which long have caused complaints of pedestrians and motorists. The tunnel was closed for a week recently in order to bore the two shafts from the overhand surface down the tunnel.

These shafts are forty-four inches in width and are seventeen feet in depth. In them will be placed two forty-two-inch electric fans, which will be revolved by one-horse power motors. The fans will make 490 revolutions per minute, and the tunnel will automatically be controlled by a time switch set to run from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., when traffic is heavy, and the cost of their operation will be 12 cents per hour.

Rain water falling into the open shafts will be carried off by a sewer so that none will come into the tunnel. While the fans are in operation, the air in the tunnel will move with a velocity of twenty-four feet per minute.

BURNED WITH AMMONIA.

Ammonia burns may cause E. B. Rogers 1864 West Franklin, his wife, his mother, his son, his first and second-degree burns on his face yesterday at the Burr Creamery, 755 Towne avenue, where he is employed as chief engineer.

CALIFORNIA BENEFITS.

California, by this ruling, comes into the benefits conferred already in the cases of the other community-law States—Texas, Washington, Arizona, Idaho, New Mexico, Colorado and Nevada. The statutes in all of these States on the subject are nearly identical, but through an interpretation of California's decisions under that law, the U. S. attorney general has been specifically barred from the right to file separate returns on common incomes of husband and wife.

In 1920, for the first time, a husband and wife living in Texas insisted upon their rights to make returns on the community basis. The matter was brought to the attention of the attorney-general, and his opinion, given in September, 1921, has recognized such right under the Texas community property law. Immediately taxpayers in other community property States began to assert the same privilege. The result was a second opinion by the Attorney-General, returned in 1921, which included in the "Texas case" of the other community States, except California.

The ruling applied alike to the Federal estate tax and the income tax. California was exempted under the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, the states of Moffit and Spreckels against Spreckels—that the wife's interest in the community property was merely that of an heir or an expectancy, and not a vested interest.

The decision in the Blum against Wardell case was the reverse of this and was to the effect that the wife has a "valid, subsisting and continuing interest in the community property during the life of the husband." The decisions by the California Supreme Court in the Moffit and Spreckels cases were rendered prior to 1917.

AMENDED STATUTES.

Had the statutes of California been unamended the Federal courts would have been compelled to accept these State decisions. But in 1917 the California code provisions relating to community property of the Supreme Court of the State having rendered no opinion on this point since the amendment, the Federal court proceeded to place its own interpretation upon the California statutes as they stood in 1920, when the suit was brought. The most significant amendment in 1917 was that

DEADLOCK OVER CITY STRUCTURE.*POPULATION By the Federal Census (1920) 270,475 By the City Directory (1920) 281,193*Douglas Building Owner's Refusal to Sell Holds Up Office and Library Plan.*STATES' WATER PACT FOUGHT.*Wide Divergence Develops at Hearing Here.*Commission Seeks Public View of Rights.*Boulder Dam Necessity Is Pointed Out.

Withdrawal from the market of the Douglas Building by its owner, W. H. Stimson, as officially reported in The Times yesterday, has thrown the City Council into another deadlock over the purchase of a building to house the city offices now located at Normal Hill. A spirited conference of the Council was held yesterday. The owner's decision has had the effect of halting plans for the new central public library.

Unless an agreement can be reached among the Councilmen, the Board of Public Library Directors will be notified that it must seek another site than Normal Hill for the library building. Councilman Allan, chairman of the special committee of the Council, said he will confer informally with Mr. Stimson in the hope that he can secure the latter's agreement to a proposition for renting the Douglas Building. This rent proposition would receive the support of six votes in the Council, it is stated.

The other buildings which have been under consideration by the Council, either on purchase or lease, were the California Building at Main and Broadway and the Bullard Block on North Spring and North Main streets, adjoining the Temple Block.

It is understood that the California Building, which had been offered for sale to the city for $400,000, has been or will be withdrawn by its owners, just as Mr. Stimson has canceled his offer to sell.

This would leave the Bullard Block the only building under consideration. This building has been offered for sale for $300,000 on long-time deferred payments, or for $12,000 a year with a one-year option to purchase.

Stimson has from the first favored the Bullard Block, as it adjoins the Temple Block site owned by the city and would be in the center of the proposed administrative civic center.

At yesterday's conference of the Council a motion to instruct Councilman Allan to confer with Mr. Stimson relative to purchasing the California Building was lost by one vote, as it was voted that the offer of Walter F. Maxwell, acting agent for Dr. J. H. Bullard, owner of the Bullard Block, is hopeful that rather than force the library director to seek a new site, the Councilmen will accept the Bullard offer, which according to the offer, will be the best proposition, viewed from all angles, that the city has had under consideration.

At the same time, the upper floors of the Bullard Block are available at once for $12,000 a year. They contain 40,000 square feet of space, almost as much as the Douglas Building.

ASKS PUBLIC VIEW.

It seems that the commission is anxious at this time to assemble foundations facts from public opinion upon which to build an agreement between the States, after which, the commissioners hint, they will doubtless find it easier to get together in the matter of allocating water and power.

YESTERDAY'S CONFERENCE.

Yesterday afternoon half a dozen Southern Californians appeared before the conference and offered suggestions to the members in which to proceed. Among the speakers were J. W. Regan, chief engineer of the Los Angeles Flood Control District; Mark Rose of Imperial Valley; J. B. Vale, speaking for the Colorado River; R. D. McPherson, a director of the Imperial Valley Irrigation District, and Grant Lorraine, speaking for the League of California Municipalities.

FAVOR BOULDER DAM.

Mr. McPherson came out flatly for development of the Boulder Canyon by the United States Commission of Engineers under government ownership and control. Others from his section of the country stated that they probably will not go so far in their recommendations.

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

Patience.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

Patience is the most over-rated virtue in the world.

Haven knows what spineless mollusk first evolved the idea that there was something fine and noble in sitting down supinely and letting the waves wash over you, instead of fighting your way out of the flood. Some idiot, however, did preposterous the notion that it was sweet and beautiful to cultivate a meek spirit of endurance, and to humbly accept whatever sort of rotten cards fate handed you out in place of raising a ruction, and demanding a new shuffle, and a fresh deal.

Especially has patience been considered a nice lady-like virtue. From the beginning of the world women have been induced to suffer and be strong. The proper gesture for a woman who lived up to the traditions of her sex was to hold her hands in her lap without protest whatever misfortunes befell her. Not one of us but who has shed barrels of tears over some patient, drunkard's wife, or some patient, invalid, or some poor, patient lady who was once rich, but is now glad of our cast-off clothes.

We have idealized, and glorified patience, and it deserves all the attributes we can give it when it means stick-toitiveness, and the grit to endure. It is admirable. But when patience means endurance, and the lack of resistance, it is contemptible. It is a cloak for cowardice. It is the camouflage of the quitter and the slacker. It is the banner under which those poor weaklings camp, who find it easier to run up the white flag than to fight the battle of life.

It is a sin to submit in suffering needlessly. What can be cured, need not be endured. And there are mighty few things in life that can't be cured.

Take sickness, to begin with, and especially turn your eyes, metaphorically, upon the thousands and thousands of invalid women.

Of course, there are many, in all walks of life, who become ill, and who must bear their sufferings with what fortitude they can summon.

Millions at least go per year of this kind, who could recover well and strong if they would give up being resigned, and struggle on, and until they struggled back to health. Some of them could be cured by medical operation, but they are the majority of us who submit to it. Some have not the money for the expert medical attention they need, and they would rather be proud, and patient, and submit than to go to the charity ward of a hospital.

Some are sick because they will not eat the right food. Some because they haven't the courage to eat the right food, and then they will never be well. Doctors will tell you that it is practically impossible to save the life of a sick person who doesn't wish to live.

You may be sure that the individual who does live is determined to be well and strong, is very seldom sick, and then not for long. Most of the patient invalids are people who have discovered that inaction is a soft graft.

EASY MONEY.
They are said to be forfeiting half in San Francisco liquor cases at the rate of more than $5000 a week. There must be a lot of money in the bootlegging game and its various angles.

LIGHT AND POWER.
When practical means are devised for the utilization of the sun's rays for power Southern California will still be leading the world. Enough sunshine can be stored up to keep the rest of the country running for months ahead.

THE TEXAS IDEA.
A 70-year-old Texas has been sentenced to thirty days in jail for kissing a flapper. Talk about your punitive damages! If this is the Texas idea of making the punishment fit the crime the Lone Star State is no place for men.

FANCY PACKAGES.
Now they are saying that the American farmer is weak in sales management. If he would wrap his ears of corn up in tissue paper and tie them with pink ribbons he might get $2 a bushel for the stuff. This fancy business is what counts with the average consumer.

THE SUBSTITUTES.
The professor says that there is little if any nourishment in alfalfa tea. There isn't even much refreshment in the beverage. That being the case, alfalfa tea gets marked off the list. It seems hard to get something to take the place of moonshine. Alfalfa tea isn't it.

TOKES ACROSS THE SEA.
Gilbert K. Chesterton believes in America for Americans. He says that the efforts of the English to master the American jokes are and should be fruitless. Most of the American jests are on themes which are mine with the Britisher to begin with, but which may be a part of the daily life in the United States. In a way humor is international, but the trouble is that the average joke is provincial. Chesterton admits his failure to respond to many of the American witlessness, but at the same time he places no blame upon the Americans, who are bluntly dumb before his own brilliance. It is a horse-appeal. World humor is rare.

WRANGLING ALLIANCES.
The raising of the British flag over Wrangell Island may give the League of Nations something more to wrangle about. Ordinarily the island should be attached to Siberia, but it has been under two flags other than Russia. It is supposed to have some strategic importance, but, as a matter of fact, the island is merely a nice cool spot from which the polar bears may watch the aurora borealis. Americans had the island at one time, but they suffered from cold feet and were glad to get away. If Explorer Stefansson wants the island for the British there will be no grave objection. He can have it for himself for all we care. Let him start a little government of his own and compete with Ireland.

THE LADY LEGISLATOR.
Alice Robertson of Muskogee, the only woman in Congress, will have a stubborn battle to retain her seat. The strange part is that she will have to fight the voters of her own sex. She is more certain of the support of the male voters than she is of the women. This is because she declines to participate in sex politics. She is really opposed to woman suffrage. If she had her way the women would not vote at all. During her term in Congress she voted and worked against the Shepard-Towner maternity bill, which was the measure backed by all the women's clubs and lady politicians. That definitely set her apart from her sex organizations. She is an outlaw so far as the ladies are concerned. Yet she seems to be a very calm and sensible woman, who has been able to command the respect of her male associates in the House. She is more of a legislative success than was Miss Rankin and it is quite possible that the male voters and the soldier boys will encompass her return to Congress as a good fellow.

WORLD CONTACTS.
Frank O. Lowden, the Illinois war Governor, is touring in Central and Southern Europe. Although he was not at all willing to accept the Wilson League of Nations, he now says that our membership in a League is essential to the best interests of the American people and the world. He says that our reasonable participation in League affairs would do more than anything else to wipe out the circle of vicious hatreds that mar the map of Europe. The economic reconstruction of Europe is largely dependent upon America. Col. Lowden says that close American contact with Europe is inevitable and the sooner we produce men capable of mingling advantageously in foreign affairs and European conferences the better it will be for the country. It may be a matter of education but it must come. Col. Lowden is not only a capable politician, but a patriotic American and a far-seeing statesman. In Rome he is not merely doing as the Romans do, but he is getting a fine perspective of the world. He thinks the United States is making a big mistake in rejecting participation in the Geneva conference. It would be a good idea if the administration should have Gov. Lowden to sit in as an official observer. Even there is objection to accrediting anyone with governmental authority.

TERORISM IN CHICAGO.
Chicago has apparently become the center of Red activities in this country; and the proponents of a revolution of violence are working through their accustomed medium, the labor unions. Control of a number of union-labor organizations in that city has been gained by a radical element who plunder and slay and who seem to be immune from conviction by reason of the corruption of some of the courts and the evident favor shown them by the Thompson administration.

Using the Hearst newspapers as their mouthpiece, they advise the terrorists to stand together and to secure their alleged rights, when necessary, by a resort to force. During the last two weeks twenty-three union-labor leaders were on trial in the Chicago courts on charges including first-degree murder, extortion, conspiracy, bombing and criminal assault. While the evidence in each case was regarded by the State as ample sufficient to convict, the juries either acquitted them or disagreed.

Thomas J. Walsh, charged with murder in cold blood of Adolph Georg and George Gast, was tried before a jury composed largely of members of labor unions. The shooting took place in a public resort. Half a dozen eyewitnesses said the crime was premeditated, that the assault was unprovoked. Yet a jury of fellow-union men declared the defendant to be "not guilty."

After the trial one of the jurors made a public statement in which he said he refused to convict Walsh because the employing contractors were guilty of as serious crimes as Walsh and they were not brought to trial. Walsh is a high official of the sheet metal trades union.

Chief Justice Scanlan ordered an investigation of the charges that wholesale corruption was resorted to in order to free notoriously guilty union-labor leaders. The terrorists boasted openly in return that if he attempts to walk the streets of Chicago his body will be filled as full of holes as a sieve. Similar threats have been made against State's Attorney Crowe, and the houses of both of these officials are now guarded and neither can pass through the streets unattended.

Faced by this condition of lawlessness, a strong movement has been organized in Chicago to break the power of the labor unions and to loosen their hold on the throat of justice. Commenting on the situation the Chicago Tribune says editorially:

The movement to break unionism completely is gaining most of its headway in the lawless management of some of the unions, organized by criminals and controlled by slugs, gunmen and murderers. Unionism once fought convict labor. It is now going on the rocks because of convict control. Fred Madner, president of the Building Trades Council, has told a committee of the City Council that he feared an outbreak of violence if an adjustment was not reached soon in the building trades.

That was not a warning. It was a threat. If gun-rung unionism thinks that Chicago is entirely gun-shy and afraid it is mistaken. Groups of gunmen cannot run Chicago continually. Even with powerful political connections, it cannot be done. The politicians will be run out, as well as the unionists.

"There are organized terrorists who blackmail employers, murder workmen, rob the public and try to corrupt justice, want control of unionism, not to improve working and living conditions of labor, but to extort money from the people employing labor.

Among the union-labor leaders in Chicago are men who have bloody radical records in Europe. They came to this country for the purpose of fomenting a Communist revolution and they are working through the labor unions. Some of them have sent the boat back to their European confederates that Chicago is ripe for a Red revolt and that it will not be long delayed.

Here is a verse from a radical song used by the London Reds in their recent attempt to gain control of the London County Council. It is a part of their ode to "The Red Flag":

Look round, the Frenchman loves its blase;

The sturdy German chants its praise; in Moscow's vaults its hymns are sung; Chicago swells its surging throng.

Radicals in England and France are urged to violent deeds through the recital of the triumph of the terrorists in Chicago. The conditions in the lake metropolis are some what similar to those in San Francisco under the regime of Schmitz and Ruef, only much worse. And the loyal residents of the city are coming to the conclusion that the only way to restore order and secure adequate protection for life and property is to break the unions themselves.

A JOURNALISTIC IMPERTINENCE.

An evening paper, in a two-column, large-type editorial, informs the women of this city that she will have to fight the voters of her own sex. She is more certain of the support of the male voters than she is of the women. This is because she declines to participate in sex politics. She is really opposed to woman suffrage. If she had her way the women would not vote at all. During her term in Congress she voted and worked against the Shepard-Towner maternity bill, which was the measure backed by all the women's clubs and lady politicians. That definitely set her apart from her sex organizations. She is an outlaw so far as the ladies are concerned. Yet she seems to be a very calm and sensible woman, who has been able to command the respect of her male associates in the House. She is more of a legislative success than was Miss Rankin and it is quite possible that the male voters and the soldier boys will encompass her return to Congress as a good fellow.

WORLD CONTACTS.

Frank O. Lowden, the Illinois war Governor, is touring in Central and Southern Europe. Although he was not at all willing to accept the Wilson League of Nations, he now says that our membership in a League is essential to the best interests of the American people and the world.

He says that our reasonable participation in League affairs would do more than anything else to wipe out the circle of vicious hatreds that mar the map of Europe. The economic reconstruction of Europe is largely dependent upon America. Col. Lowden says that close American contact with Europe is inevitable and the sooner we produce men capable of mingling advantageously in foreign affairs and European conferences the better it will be for the country.

hands, large and brown, were gripped firmly on the wheel. Her eyes and chin were dark and lank upon eyes and chin. She liked the clearness and languid frankness of this man's eyes, and now, given an opportunity to study his features, she was interested in his chin, without being prominent, had indications of stubbornness and strength.

"No; I'm not bluffing," said Miss Callahan. "I know that you want me to re-open that power house; and I know that you're not paying much attention to that part of the job. From your mysterious conference with Senator Leggett, I deduce that he has his chin, without being prominent, had indications of stubbornness and strength.

"Depend upon me!" cried Leggett. "To-morrow night we will sing together in my house. He paused reflectively and smiled. "Each will bring the required capital in his pocket."

ARMSTRONG'S ALLY.

Miss Callahan was reclining in a steamer chair in the cool shade of the administration building's veranda when Ward Armstrong came out of the mill. She looked up from the magazine and gave him a slow nod.

"I'm so glad you've come at last," he greeted her. He paused with his foot tentatively on the lower step. "I am in need of some really chivalrous young man to avenge an insult."

"Who insulted you?" Armstrong demanded sharply.

"Nobody," she replied. "But he looks as if he might. I think he is our next-door neighbor. He is tall, thin, ugly, unclean person, with a heart full of contempt for us."

"Who insulted you?" Armstrong demanded sharply.

"None more," demanded Miss Callahan.

"I feel that I am bound to make some mistakes," he replied. "One of them is that I never tackled anything really worth while before. Amador is the I am getting into business when my forte is engineering. I'm no business man, and I admit it. Some day—I guess this sounds foolish, doesn't it?—I will do big things as I can."

"His name is Amador."

"Yes," replied Miss Callahan musingly. "I passed him on the road this morning on the way from town. He looks like the look in hisatty little haggard eyes."

"Shall I drop in and teach him a lesson before dinner?" Armstrong's gentle brown eyes were twinkling.

"You'll be hasty," said Miss Callahan, slowly rising. "It doesn't pay. Unless I'm mistaken you will have a good opportunity to thrash him later. Mr. Armstrong, I'm simply going to ride that little red automobile, and my little compatriot, Senorita Leggaro, is indulging in her long afternoon siesta."

"She has no business to attend to in Guanatara," he told her. "It's a fifty-mile ride to the hot sun, there and back. But if you're game—"

"That," retorted Miss Callahan severely, "is insulting. Why, I came to Cuba!"

"What difference does it make?" she replied. "You're here—and I'm here. Why are we driving to Guanatara?"

"I am anxious to know how father's experiment is progressing," she said as they swerved out on the main road.

"Mr. Armstrong tell you why I came to Cuba?" he demanded.

"What difference does it make?" she replied. "You're here—and I'm here. Why are we driving to Guanatara?"

"Miss Callahan, will you please tell me how much you know that's in the air. You're not bluffing, are you?"

Miss Callahan allowed her tenacious eyes to fall on her companion. His eyes were fixed to the black road; his stable at the hotel, and walked to the plant.

Jerry Connors declared that the job of repair was progressing favorably. One generator was about ready to turn. The boilers were relined and patched up, and in addition, reported, "We sound."

"Both of these generators must be ready for business within six weeks," said Armstrong. "You have a bigger job on your hands than originally intended. Connors."

"Now I am going to load you up with more work."

"I eat work!" snapped Connors.

"Tonight I'll wire Havana for three good mechanics to handle this job. You must take charge of them, and see that they do things properly. Also, I want you to recruit a gang of men who can handle saws and axes. Pick up some poles cut, cleaned, dipped and erected to carry a line from here nine miles north to the Vistedas plantation; also, a line from here to the old pier at Guanatara."

"If you can't find enough men come to me, and I'll manage to find some for you. As soon as the mechanics come from Havana I'm importing them for a purpose."

"Twenty-four hours."

Jerry Connors grinned broadly.

JOHN J. GRAY.

The best investment I ever made in my life was when I bought Tanlac. I have not only recovered my health but I have also gained twenty-five pounds in weight and feel just brimful of new life and energy," said John J. Gray, 1230 Hollywood St., Philadelphia, Pa., a popular salesman at George's Clothing Store.

"When I began taking Tanlac I had been in failing health for some time as a result of stomach trouble and indigestion. I missed many meals rather than to suffer discomfort I knew was to follow. If I ate anything at all, I suffered especially from shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. Frequent dizzy spells and headaches added to my discomfort, and I was so nervous I got little rest either day or night."

"Since Tanlac toned up my stomach I am like a new man in every way and eat, sleep, work and feel better than in years."

Tanlac is sold by all good drug-gists. —[Advertisement]

Rail Body Hears Request of Hollywood.

Questions Authority to Order
Extensions.

Increased Fare Protests to be Heard Today.

The subject of the extension into Hollywood territory of the lines of the Los Angeles Railway rather than the anticipated protest, by residents, prompted the commission of that section, anxious the Pacific Electric increased fare schedule put into effect January 1, last, occupied the entire time of yesterday's hearing by the State Railroad Commission.

"A close of the session, which was held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple, 4540 Hollywood Boulevard, the Los Angeles Railways' angle of the race was dispensed with when the commission ordered the commission to the traverser to submit his arguments within a period of twenty-five days. Ten days additional in which to answer the briefs was also provided for in the governing body's stipulation.

TO CONSIDER PROTESTS.

It was stated that the matter of Hollywood fare reduction would be taken up at the opening of today's session.

Wednesday the commission will move to the local courtroom on the eighth floor of the Pacific Finance Building and will consider protest against fare increases of the division in Los Angeles, South Pasadena and Rose Hill.

At the opening of the hearing yesterday, President Brundage of the commission explained that, as no much difference of opinion existed on the question of the governing body over which the commission had come to question its own authority. He asked for a decision upon the point of the overlapping jurisdiction that would make clear whether the right to extend or of paralleling lines into the territory already occupied by a public utility is vested in the commission or in the state body.

Questions Authority to Order

Increased Fare Protests to be Heard Today.

The subject of the extension into Hollywood territory of the lines of the Los Angeles Railway rather than the anticipated protest, by residents, prompted the commission of that section, anxious the Pacific Electric increased fare schedule put into effect January 1, last, occupied the entire time of yesterday's hearing by the State Railroad Commission.

"A close of the session, which was held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple, 4540 Hollywood Boulevard, the Los Angeles Railways' angle of the race was dispensed with when the commission or was interested in the extension to the beach houses to arguments within a period of twenty-five days. Ten days additional in which to answer the briefs was also provided for in the governing body's stipulation.

Jackie Wilson, little motion-picture actor of 8 years, mingled with the crowds at Venice Sunday night and disappeared, according to a report to Sheriff Traeger yesterday.

It was feared by the mother, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, 7148 Hughes avenue, Culver City, that the child had been kidnapped.

Jackie was in the care of Mrs. W. Swan, 1821 Ocean Front, Venice. It was after 8 p.m. when the boy went for an ice-cream cone. He was warned to hurry back but has not been seen by Mrs. Swan since.

The child has dark brown hair, is 4 feet tall, weighs 35 pounds, has blue eyes and wore a mixed suit of brown tweed, with a cap to match.

PODDOCK TELLS HOW HE BECAME THE WORLD'S GREATEST SPRINTERS.

TRIBES HOW FAST START WAS DEVELOPED.

Perfect Runner is One Who Combines Best Start, Stride and Finish.

BY CHARLES W. PODDOCK,
Former Sprinter, Holder of Ten World's Records.

With breath, the starting signal, a sense of rapid motion, competition, the tape before you, a bit of broken glass is the story of the 100 yards, down through the years. There is no saying when the first sprint race was run; distance probably was not measured; there certainly was no start to the race; no holes to help the competitor; no way to prevent his slipping, and yet, since time began, always has been the purpose of proving the fastest; always the struggle for supremacy in speed.

WORLD'S RECORDS SET BY PODDOCK.

Following are Charlie Paddock's world's records and the dates and occasions on which he set them:

110 yards, national records, Paddock Field, 1921, 10¾ sec.

150 yards, national records, Paddock Field, 1921, 14¾ sec.

Now University, he became of cinder diggers successfully tamed the Pasadena Bulldog yesterday afternoon on the RailSplitters' oval, the final count sagging in Lincoln's favor of 92 to 20. The RailSplitters ran wild, piling up points without regard for the tender feelings of their opponents, with the result that only one third place was counted for the visitors.

Jayred, Pasadena's high-jumping ace, quite unexpectedly hopped higher than Capt. Sencerbox of Lincoln was able to clear, the score at 10-10. This seemed to put new life into Sencerbox, and when the broad jump was called he uncorked a terrific leap, landing twenty-one feet nine inches from the board, for nine points and a national record.

Excellent time was made by Boles in the high hurdles, the Lincoln flash negotiating the high barriers in 14 4-5s, while he also took first honors in the low sticks.

COLIMA AND GEORGE MIX
AT VERNON.

Classy Middleweights Will Appear in Feature Bout at Doyle's Tonight.

Bert Colima and Young George, two of the classiest middleweights around Southern California's four-round ranks, are matched for the main event at the Vernon arena tonight and unless all signs fall the old fight shanty will be packed to the rafters when the initial battle of the evening gets under way.

Twice before Colima and George have battled at Vernon with honors being about even. George had the pride of Whittier to a draw in their last bout and hoped to at least outfit him tonight.

Matchmaker Wadham plans to match Colima with Young George again, so go with Marty Gandy, who trimmed Colima several weeks ago only to be held to a draw by George.

A couple of husky 145-pounders, George Miles and Chick Roush, are due for a semi-wind-up. It figures to be a slugfest match from start to finish.

The feature preliminary will send Johnny Evans and Joe Kelly. Grand opera was played on horseback by the management, the park guards kept the Glendale basket-cooks too busy to count many baskets.

Boyd was the individual star of the game, while Colburn played the best game for the Glendale quintet.

The line-ups:

Coloma—Rice (8), Cullens (8), Powers (8), Bailey (8), Bailey (8).

Substitutions—For Huntington Park, Charles, Donalson, Hayes, Johnson, and Williams. Referee—Poley.

GEORGES SIGNS FOR PARIS BOUT.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

PARIS, March 20.—Georges Carpentier, world's light-heavyweight pugilistic champion, has signed an agreement to box any American, British or French heavyweight or light-heavyweight who may be selected later than September of this year.

If a fight is arranged, it will be Carpenter's first battle in Paris in three years.

His excellency Duke Kenworthy surely started something when through the leniency of Judge Landis he got back into this league.

On his first day, the Duke started something. He couldn't have caused a larger disturbance had he dropped a bomb on the happy homes of his rivals. Inside of twenty-four hours he had half the managers in the league desiring to cut his throat. He somehow dismissed most of them and their ball team as being has-beens or never-wases. Anyway, he gave the league a shot of the stink that it needed, and which is likely to last it all season.

My personal opinion is that the Iron Duke meant most of what he said.

George Von Elm to Play in Southern California Championship.

TUFTS REVAMPS GOLFING DATES.

Printer Pulls a Boner on Schedule Calendar.

L.A.C.C.-Tourney to Start on March 29.

Von Elm to Play in Title Meet of North.

BY ED LOWRY.

A figure "8" turned upside down has caused a commotion in our local golf community. Many of our best athletes have been burnishing up their putt-digging and sand-swinging implements in the belief that the annual Los Angeles County Club invitation tourney was to start on the 28th inst. and end on April 1.

This seemed rather unusual, for the invitation tournaments are generally of four or five-day duration, and according to the calendar the Los Angeles event would run from March 29 to April 3. So reported the error it was kept until yesterday, when Ed Tufts went to the bat and whispered that the printer had slipped in a "6" instead of a "4".

The tourney, therefore, will begin on Wednesday, the 28th inst., and end on Sunday, April 2. The finalists in the first flight will play thirty-six holes, but all the others will play eighteen, and the qualifying round will be an eighteen-hole one.

Because the Northern California quarter championship tourney for men happened to be held on the same date as the Los Angeles invitation, George Von Elm, youthful trans-Mississippi and Northwest champion, will not be here until the southern amateur title meeting. He will play in the north's affair and then come south.

Many have looked forward to a meeting between Ed Tufts and Dr. Paul Hunter, State amateur champion, for the two names are the Los Angeles invitation, George Von Elm, youthful trans-Mississippi and Northwest champion, will not be here until the southern amateur title meeting. He will play in the north's affair and then come south.

BREEZES FROM SPRING CAMPS.

SEALS. BOY'S HOT SPRINGS, March 20.—The Seals are planning shortly to open their training camp. Thursday afternoon, instead of Friday as was the original plan, will see them pull up stakes and head for San Francisco. They are in San Francisco this week, and will have a short practice period before they start to play prior to the opening of the season Tuesday, April 4. Their schedule on arrival at the home park will be as follows:

Friday, March 24, practice at Recreation Park; Saturday, March 25, Seals vs. All-Stars of Mission League. Sunday, March 26, Seals vs. Winter League Club, yet to be named. Monday, March 27, practice. Tuesday, March 28, Seals vs. Chicago Nationals, Wednesday, March 29, Seals vs. Chicago Cubs. Thursday, March 30, Seals vs. University of California, or All-Army team. Friday, March 31, Seals vs. Cubs. Saturday, April 1, Seals vs. Cubs. Sunday, April 2, Seals vs. Cubs.

The following Monday, April 3, will be given over to signal practice, and then all will be set for the opener with the Indians.

Today Miller gave his team a light workout, but in view of the two Sunday games there was no practice barrier on the diamond.

MURTELDAL HOT SPRINGS, March 20.—The Oaks and the Gray Oaks indulged in an exciting 8-to-8 tie this afternoon. Even though the White Sox drew a lead, 7-to-6, toward the ninth, they couldn't win. In the ninth inning the White Sox made five runs, that put them one ahead. But Marriott singled, stole and was hit home by Bratton, who previously had been the home run king. Young Jones looked good for the White Sox.

DETROIT, March 20.—Twenty-one members of the Detroit Americans, including Manager Ty Cobb, left their train camp at Augusta, Ga., with the Birmingham club to enter the International League, for a week's tour of South Carolina.

The eleven men left behind are expected to be joined during the tour. However, Emmek and George Davis, two Tiger pitchers, who have not reported.

PIRATES.

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—The Boston Americans pounded the Pittsburgh Nationals 11-to-8 yesterday. Sunday is a cold-weather game, advice received here today from Hot Springs, Ark., stated. It was the coldest weather the Pirates had experienced. Field Umpire Von Sicker was unable to get through with his calls from second to short in the same inning was credited with a home run. The Red Sox made fifteen hits, including homers by Harris and O'Rourke. The victory evened the training session series.

Hughes, Hall, Doc Crandall, Lyons and Fonder give Killefer a nice bevy of right-handers. The veterans may be a bit late getting started, yet Hughes is what is technically known as a cold-weather pitcher, and should it be a spring of low temperatures, he might get away with a bang. Tom twirled nothing short of major-league ball in the Winter League, and during that race there were more furl than palm leaf fans in the grand stand.

Things are more complex in the southpaw department, which is inhabited by Dumovich, Thomas, Soria and York. The latter is said to be so good that difficulty was experienced getting him out of the big league. How useful he will be at the start is problematical, as he was late in joining the team. Although there are plenty of pelicans at Elsinore, York insisted on staying in the East and looking for a stork.

Dumovich is about due for a regular berth. As there will be only two southpaw berths on the club, competition is keen.

Alhambra Will Meet Tulare Tonight.

QUINTETS IN CRUCIAL TILT.

Alhambra and Tulare Scrap for Chance at Title.

Stockton to Take on Winner for State Honors.

Game Scheduled for Tonight in U.S.C. Pavilion.

Whether Alhambra or Tulare is to meet Stockton High for the basketball championship of the State will be decided tonight in the U.S.C. pavilion, when Coach Downing's undefeated quintet takes on the San Joaquin Valley champs in the semifinal conflict for the C.I.F. title. Alhambra's mission: Higher has waded through some tough opposition to get a crack at the State honors, picking up the Southern California title from Fullerton en route, and the Tulare athletes will have to show some awful fast stuff if they win tonight.

Alhambra started a flashy season by mopping up the Central League, and put Van Nuys, Manual Arts and Fullerton on the shelf. The only surprise was the play-off for the title of the south. In Tulare the Alhambra men will meet what is probably the best all-around team they have bucked up against this year. They are the work of Mata, David and Nyall, all of whom are veritable whirlwinds on the basketball court. Coach Downing is confident of knocking the pins out from under the Central California titleholders.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
STOCKTON, March 20.—Physical Director J. E. Cave of Stockton High School today offered $500 cash guaranteed to either Tulare or Alhambra High School to play the California Interscholastic Federation basketball finals in Stockton next Saturday night.

BOWLERS TO MEET BY TELEGRAPH TONIGHT.

A bowling match of unusual interest will be staged tonight between the teams of the Southern California Telephone Company and the Pacific Telephone Company of Seattle. This end of the affair will be played out at the California alleys, and a direct wire will connect the local section of the match with Seattle.

Activities and Plans of Women in Many Spheres.

ACTIVITY URGED IN PARTY LINES.

Women Advised to Take an Interest in Politics.

League Representatives Hear National Leader.

Mrs. Park and Mrs. Hoover at Meeting Here.

BY MARYA NYE.

Urging women to go into the political parties and work with them, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters, yesterday spoke before Southern California representatives of the league at the Friday Morning Clubhouse.

"Political parties can do what we can do, but women, if you need a platform, need a woman's platform," said Mrs. Park. "I am going to speak to the women who furnish the money and that is what the league furnishes," said Mrs. Parks.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, and Mrs. Parks were co-honorees at a breakfast and reception given by the Los Angeles county unit of the league. Mrs. Arthur S. Heineman, local executive presided. In the receiving room with the honor guests and their wives were Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, Mrs. W. D. Crocker, both of Pasadena, the latter vice-president of the league, and chairman of organization; Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant, Mrs. Force Parker and Miss Sue Barnwell.

OPPOSES AMENDMENT.

"I am absolutely opposed to the passage of the proposed Twentieth Amendment," said Mrs. Hoover as she stood in the receiving line after a speech following breakfast. "My views coincide exactly with the League of Women Voters' policy as outlined in Mrs. Parks' talk. I have personally asked the opinion of the most part they are opposed to blanket legislation. One of them, a personal friend, assured me some time ago that it is only

REQUESTED RECIPES.

E. B.: "Please publish a crisp waffle recipe. I have had many, but all are too light and thin. Those I refer to are very light, and practically without moisture."

Answer: "The crisp waffles made for are raised waffles, made as follows:

Crisp raised waffles: Scald one and three-fourths cups of milk at 9 o'clock in the evening; add to it one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of butter and let cool till lukewarm, then add one yeast dissolved in one-fourth cup of tepid water, and also add 2 cups of bread flour. Beat well, cover the bowl with a clean cloth, and let stand overnight in a moderately warm place to let the yeast rise.

In the morning add to it the yolks of two eggs well beaten, then the two egg-whites stiffly beaten. Cover and let rise again. If you wish to make these waffles within a couple of hours of lunch or supper, use one whole yeast cake instead of the quarter of a cake called for above; the whole yeast cake will raise the batter in one and one-half hours.

Have your waffle iron heated on both sides and well greased before filling; put 1 cup of mixture in the center of each compartment near the center of the iron, cover and the mixture will spread to just fill the iron.

When properly heated before the iron is turned off, the waffle iron should be turned almondy as soon as it is filled and covered. E. B.: "Have you a recipe for cake frosting made with sugar, milk and cream?"

Answer: "This did not say whether you wished a cooked or an uncooked icing. Here are both kinds: Cooked Fudge Icing or Granulated sugar in a small saucepan with a heaping tablespoonful of cornstarch, 3 tablespoons of cocoa powder and 1 cup of either milk or water; mix thoroughly and heat.

The Editor: "I am a young wife, only 18, who like to have a nice sponge layer cake recipe."

Answer: Layer cake: Cream half cup of butter with 1 cup of sugar; add beaten yolks of 2 eggs, add 2 cups of sifted flour, 1/2 cup of sweet milk. Now sift together 2 teaspoons of baking powder and two and one-half cups of flour, and add these to other mixture. Then add 2 stiffly-beaten egg whites and 1/2 cup of vanilla. Have your oven hot. Bake this batter in two round layer-cake pans for 25 minutes.

The Editor:

Putting this State at the top in subscriptions.

A story of hope comes to me in this balmy spring weather. As I look out of my window I see many harbingers of spring and through the mists the White House gradually emerges. This reminds me of you and that glad hour when the laughing soil will yield infant blossoms on the trees. If you love flowers—and what woman does not?—I know you will give this little packet to an especially good-looking man. Your slender womanly smile will help the flowers bloom and perhaps they will remind you of me, the giver of the seeds.

No. This is not a love letter. It is according to Mrs. Parks' copy of a letter sent by a Congressman to every woman in his district, accompanied by a packet of flower seeds. It was not love or hate he was expressing. Love of his job, not the writer's hope of a personal affirmative to a proposal of marriage, but the "witchery of hope" of an affirmative vote in his favor. Mrs. Parks read it yesterday, she said, as an example of the sort of campaigning a woman should not do. In fact, she was of the opinion that if a woman ever did anything approaching such sentimentality, she would never hear the last of it.

CITIZENSHIP FOR WOMEN.

"Citizenship for women should not be indicated by the accident of marriage," said Mrs. Parks. "So long as a woman resides in this country even though she is married to a foreigner, she should be able to vote as an American citizen."

On the other hand, foreign born women should be obliged to go through the same process of naturalization as men. This is the measure for which the league will campaign next, at the same time, continuing to work along the lines of that of the Equal Suffrage Act, which was the first bill introduced by the league, according to Mrs. Parks, who has now become a law.

"A Senator in Washington met my request for his approval for the bill with the argument that it was other legislation since it is for mothers and babies: a maternity benefit and only women are mothers. I wasn't equal to an answer for that at once, but my secretary thought of this: 'Mothers are the mothers of the nation, of girls; so that removes the class legislation business.' I guess it worked with him for afterward gave the bill his vote."

NATIONAL SESSION.

Mrs. Parks outlined the program for the national convention in Baltimore, beginning April 15. Those who will speak include: Secretary of State Hughes, Lady Astor of England, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrand, formerly of Los Angeles, Mrs. Alexander Archibald Macfarlane, Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, and Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, a member of the National Republican Committee.

Miss Warren G. Harding, wife of the President, will receive the delegation at the White House.

Mrs. Hughes will entertain with a tea. The great mass meeting of the convention will be held in Memorial Hall, the hall of the Ambassadors yesterday. There were plates for ten. She is to have another luncheon on Thursday.

Dinner Party.

Miss Helen Thompson of Glendale, gave a dinner party Saturday evening prior to the junior ball, which was held at the Wilshire Country Club.

Arrive in Private Car.

Mrs. Walter G. Barnwell of Chicago arrived here Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wells in their private car, and is the guest of Mrs. F. Johnson of 825 Westmoreland eighth street. Mrs. Barnwell's husband, one of the officials of the Santa Fe, passed away ten days ago. Mr. Wells is vice-president and general manager of the Santa Fe.

Charming Newcomers.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Eaton from the University of California, Southern Branch, today, to meet the Cub nine in a practice game.

Mallette, who have been showing little class up to date, and with the first league game not far off the Lincoln boys sure need the practice.

Entertainers Ten.

Mrs. George H. Fussenet, who is leaving early next month for France, presided at a luncheon at the Ambassador yesterday. There were plates for ten. She is to have another luncheon on Thursday.

Morning Matinee Postponed.

The morning matinee at which Mrs. Dean Mason was to have entertained today has been postponed for a week because of the illness of Dr. Alex Kall, who was to have presided at the program. Next week's affair, Mrs. Mason will be assisted by Mrs. Henry McKee, and Mrs. William S. Hook, Jr.

Entertain at Supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irwin Rogers were hosts at a buffet supper party Saturday evening which followed the symphony concert. They had 100 guests, among them being Florence Macbeth, soloist at the concert.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Guests of Honor.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce in the President's Cabinet, and Mrs. Hoover are to be honored at a dinner at which Miss Robinson, a member of the orchestra, will entertain this evening at the Hotel Maryland in Pasadena. She is to be a distinguished company of thirty-five guests.

Mr. John D. Fredericks is also entertaining at an elaborate luncheon. The dinner is to be given in honor of Mrs. Hoover, who was a guest at a dinner party at the Ambassador yesterday by the women's section of the American Institute of Engineers. There were forty guests at this.

For Former Los Angeles Girl.

Mrs. Paul Denipile of San Francisco, who was Miss Hilda Cleugh of this city, was honored guest last evening at a dinner party at which Miss Robinson, a member of the orchestra, will entertain this evening at the Hotel Maryland in Pasadena.

Others in the group are Mrs. L. Cuthbertson of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Reynolds, E. H. Rollins, Charles G. Adams, Mr. Brown and Rudolph Brooks.

Off For Europe.

Mrs. George Brunswig and her daughter, Miss Margaret Brunswig and the latter's friend, Miss Dorothy Chapin, have sailed for Europe where they expect to travel a year or more. Mrs. Brunswig and her daughter visited friends in New Orleans first and then went to New York, where they spent a week or more at the Chatham Hotel, where Miss Chapin went to meet them.

To Say An Avrook.

A farewell courtesy for a number of folk who are leaving soon for foreign lands is the tea at which Mrs. George Marshall and Mrs. Samuel Marshall are to be honored, owing to the great number received. So if a person or organization replies to a question and sends an addressed envelope to use YOUR full name, street number and the name of your city and State.

The house is beautifully decorated and assisting the three hosts are Mrs. John Bastanchury, Mrs. Charles Richards and Mrs. George Keim.

Leaving Soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas of La Crescenta are expecting to leave early next month for New York, where he goes to paint a number of portraits of distinguished men. They expect to be away two months. As there are a large number of friends there whom they met in all parts of the world, they will no doubt have a delightful social time. They entertained at luncheon Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Evans of New York and Tom Evans arrived at Los Angeles Harbor on the Hawkeye State on their way to San Francisco. Mr. Evans is president of the Continental Insurance Company of New York.

No. This is not a love letter.

It is according to Mrs. Parks' copy of a letter sent by a Congressman to every woman in his district, accompanied by a packet of flower seeds. It was not love or hate he was expressing. Love of his job, not the writer's hope of a personal affirmative to a proposal of marriage, but the "witchery of hope" of an affirmative vote in his favor. Mrs. Parks read it yesterday, she said, as an example of the sort of campaigning a woman should not do.

In fact, she was of the opinion that if a woman ever did anything approaching such sentimentality, she would never hear the last of it.

CITIZENSHIP FOR WOMEN.

"Citizenship for women should not be indicated by the accident of marriage," said Mrs. Parks. "So long as a woman resides in this country even though she is married to a foreigner, she should be able to vote as an American citizen."

On the other hand, foreign born women should be obliged to go through the same process of naturalization as men. This is the measure for which the league will campaign next, at the same time, continuing to work along the lines of that of the Equal Suffrage Act, which was the first bill introduced by the league, according to Mrs. Parks, who has now become a law.

At St. Patrick's Dinner-Dance.

The St. Patrick's Day dinner-dance and ball at the Green was one of the most brilliant affairs of the season. Elaborate decorations, including the ballroom. The Misses Katin Reavis, with twelve girls, added to the pleasure of the evening.

Many dinners were enjoyed, among them being one presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Macfarlane, who had in their company Mrs. and Mrs. R. P. Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Vreeland, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Starkey, Judge and Mrs. Waldo, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnston, Miss Irene Westwood, and F. A. M. Ball.

Mrs. Tanner Recovering.

Mrs. Virginia Tanner, who was taken suddenly ill a week ago, was sufficiently recovered yesterday to be taken to her home at the Ansone Apartments from the Good Samaritan Hospital. Mrs. Tanner had expected to go to Europe shortly, but her illness will prevent her making the trip.

LINCOLN OUTFIT TO TAKE ON CUBS TODAY.

Coach Mallette and his Lincoln High pill swatters will journey over to the University of California, Southern Branch, today, to meet the Cub nine in a practice game.

Mallette, who have been showing little class up to date, and with the first league game not far off the Lincoln boys sure need the practice.

Entertainers Ten.

Mrs. George H. Fussenet, who is leaving early next month for France, presided at a luncheon at the Ambassador yesterday. There were plates for ten. She is to have another luncheon on Thursday.

Morning Matinee Postponed.

The morning matinee at which Mrs. Dean Mason was to have entertained today has been postponed for a week because of the illness of Dr. Alex Kall, who was to have presided at the program. Next week's affair, Mrs. Mason will be assisted by Mrs. Henry McKee, and Mrs. William S. Hook, Jr.

Entertain at Supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irwin Rogers were hosts at a buffet supper party Saturday evening which followed the symphony concert. They had 100 guests, among them being Florence Macbeth, soloist at the concert.

Spring Vacations.

Mrs. Ruth Collision will spend her spring vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John

California Art Club.

Guests of honor for the California Art Club dinner Saturday evening, April 13, will include Mrs. William H. Millsbaugh, chairman of the art committee of the Ebell Club, and Mrs. Allen True, chairman of the same at the Shattuck.

Miss Florence Middagh, contralto, will sing, and Eddie Millburn will interpret a Japanese dance. Reservations should be made with Roscoe Shadler, Otis Art Institute, who will be at the clubrooms, 622 First Street View, and will be preceded at 5 p.m. by a meeting of the board of control.

SAVOY AND BRENNON RIFF THE BULLSEYE.

By Grace Kingsley.

And now for the cuttin's up down at the Greenwich Village Follies! With Savoy and Brennon doing most of the romping.

At Philharmonic Auditorium. I'm glad you asked me that, dearie. I'm glad you asked me. But unless you're as sophisticated as New York, you'll get the drift of it, dearie. For the Greenwich Village Follies, being full of Savoy and Brennon, is full of wiz cracks.

It's all very batik, too, in the Greenwich Village Follies. Bath tubs, to gorgeshop of color and spontaneity of effect.

You start off in a pawnshop whose gorgeshop like never was on land or sea, and then you slip easily with the lovely girl pawnmen in another pawnshop barn but oh, what a sublime barn it was! That's where Dolores Edwards comes in: she ravishing. The heart of Broadway; if Broadway has a heart!

Then Bert Savoy begins to shish with his black velvet shirt, his everlasting red wig and his mythical Marlie all complete. "Oh, my yes, we was models," says Bert. "Marlie was willin' to be used, to be sociable, but she was supposed to be in the State of Liberty!" Did he have a funny desire? I'm glad you asked me! It was the greatest thing since "Macbeth"! "I have a beautiful figure! You should've seen it before the war."

There were girls, girls and more girls—more gorgeously colored cycloramas, and then more girls in such repertoire of gowns as the good old town had never seen.

All the best shows are intimate, nowadays, as intimate as Savoy and Margie. Hooks and eyes are not more affirmative than the bangles and the players. Even if you're a little tired of the shelf of the last gallery, you can roll out at Phil Baker and tell him and his talkative concerning to "Tell It With Music." First, though, tell it with talk, talk to the audience to run on the instrument. He's the local kiddie—at Sid Grauman and everything—oh, he's perfectly filling.

There are a couple of Irish colleagues, Misses O'Brien and their quiet little workers, but they put it across clear to the rafters.

No matter what they sing, and sometimes what they sing is prettily much nothing, they keep you still. You love the Virginia Bell is a marvel. Beautiful of face and form, a statue come to life; she does a Moorish dance and a dance of Banda that makes you feel as if you were born again. She's worth an admission of two.

One spectacle follows another. And one clever act follows another. Of the latter, Mrs. Weavers and Mr. Stanford, with their musical saw, and their rubbers, biff the bullseye.

If I haven't conveyed to you that the current Greenwich Village is a masterpiece of variety, the new variety show of the sort we've had since Raymond Hitchcock and Huffy-Koo, I haven't done what I intended to do. Because it is. It's as fresh as before, as the Greenwich Village, before the Greenwich Villagers discovered it.

The first act of the play has the typical Warfield complex. It affords no end of enjoyment in the salles to those who are fond of the Savoy. Andrew Macpherson, with his long, low, spiritualism, and Peter Grimm, the novice in psychology. We are also made acquainted with the conflict in the love romance between Katharine Hepburn and Harry Miller. The climax is the death of Peter.

For the remaining two acts Warfield appears as the shade, unseen and unheard, except by the child William. There is to this act an atmosphere that is both somber and of which the total sum is too much play and too little Warfield.

He carries the creation as far as it will go, but there are no double exposures. The "Eastbound" to let the illusion seem straight through a contrary and obstinate one. You feel that the truest line is spoken when Grimm says at the end of the act that "It took me a terribly long time to get to this point."

The idea of a person returning to bring light and happiness is a pretty one. The machinery of the Belasco play is creaky, however.

Were the second act more deeply involved and more difficult could be imagined, succeeding admirably with the Warfield personality as its motive power.

The Warfield force is a remarkable thing, but he is not the only thing in his assortment, his varying from humor to tears. The flight is swift as that of the eagle and as sure, and he manages with a marvelous cleverness to grasp your interest again and again through the slow tempo of his shadow return.

The cast supporting is selected with the Warfield discrimination. We meet old friends in the picture, such as Marie Bates, but they are lost somewhat to view except in a few scenes. The child Richard Dupont plays up remarkably to the spiritual emotion of his scene with the shade.

Miss Josephine Brennan is vivid and real to the last degree as Andy MacPherson. He gave a splendid performance. John Sainpolis, George Washington and the others mentioned will be mentioned.

Warfield is always Warfield—human, fascinating, real, even when he is supposed to be unreal.

Scores in Two-a-Day.

Many of the best of the picture players are hunting cover in vaudeville these days. Now it's Claire Whitney, who used to lure us to the movies with her high-power vamp stuff, who has gone into the two-a-day, and who opened her playhouse with her husband, Robert Edward Keane, at the Orpheum.

Some picture people transferred to the stage have lost their voices and unnatural diction. But the picture players, who have been a schooling to Miss Whitney as to grace, naturalness, and a vivid technique in putting dramatic points and personality over. In addition to which her voice and diction are clear and natural in her action. She is very beautiful. One odd little thing you will note about all the picture players who come to the stage. They don't look at their audiences. Even as they carefully avoid looking across the footlights. For which heaven be praised. The playlet in which Miss Whitney and Mr. Keane are appearing is "The Goody Sex," by Lawrence Grauman. The author says the author is the masterpiece. The woman, a bride, starts in by telling her husband that this is so her husband denies it, and then comes a man friend of his, but not knowing the mystery and secret of it goes about each to the other in turn. There's a smart tag line at the end, after the goosier promises to reform. Mr. Keane proves himself a natural and clever actor.

Keane doubles in brain by appearing as a single with monologue and songs. His Scottish song is his best number. Some of his jokes are new and some are second-run. He makes a good impression.

Probably even those who laugh at Patricios don't know why they do.

He strikes me as a spoiled child showing off, and needling his parents, and he goes about doing that. But he's a wiz at the hooch. His partner, Irene Delroy, is a sweetly pretty bimbo.

Some snappy burlesque magic numbers, and the laughs for Redford and Whitman, while their legitimate juggling is good.

La Bernicia and company are three feminine steppers. They seem like good, strong girls, passing the audience in dancing, but otherwise they do not seem to be much reason for them.

The Sprit of Night is Bernicia's best dance. The stage setting looks very showy, the flowers look faded and drooping, and the costumes are not so good, but there is enough to make Matinees weep.

Why is so excellent an artist as Bill Robinson put back on the spot? Next time he comes it will be with a Greenwich Village blare of trumpet. There'll be no juggling that black boy. Dave Harris and his seven syncopators continue headliners.

Miss Pickford gets Robertson. At his best he is a good director, but next director Mary Pickford is her next picture, "Tems of the Storm Country." This director is no less a person than John G. Robertson, who has been loaned by Famous Pictures-Lasky to Miss Pickford.

Lasky has considered one of Lasky's finest directors having to his credit "Sentimental Tommy" and other big successes.

REVIEWS.*DAVID WARFIELD.

PLAYS "RETURN OF PETER GRIMM" AT MASON.

By Edwin Schallert.

With the force of many memories and the consuming appeal of the now, David Warfield once again casts the spell of his potent appeal over his audience in "The Return of Peter Grimm." Last night at the Mason, it was as all Warfield appearances are, a triumph of personal energy and personal magnetism, and the gala reception that his return drew forth proved him once again a popular idol. Peter Grimm, his play, does deal with forces known and unknown, but it is the Warfieldian force that rises serene and dominant.

A year ago Warfield cut short an engagement at the Auditorium because of a chest ailment, and his return last night consequently gained double significance as an event, and certainly the audience was of such proportions and brilliance to bring the highest tribute to the boy who dances with them.

As these young gentlemen both grow up, it is to be expected that some day they will be the equals of the boys who dance with them.

The two boys who dance with them are Margaret Maguire, and whom she is, though he did quadriga with the drummer.

Starting out with Howard's "Spectacle," the animal act which followed the Broadway Grand last week, the vaudeville program lined up very well indeed, though it could have been more varied.

The animal act is good of its kind, and the girls are perfectly formed women, etc., etc., and she can not only walk, but walk with exceeding grace. There is another in the act, a little girl, who is a real cutie, discovered to be Margaret Maguire, and whom she is, though he did quadriga with the drummer.

With Gordon and Ford the atmosphere of general good humor became thicker. They haven't a particularly clever line, but they are good performers to prefer what they have got, and the favorite member of the team would be a treat even if she couldn't sing, which she can. Nature gave her a lot to work with, and she has let some of it go to waste.

Bridgeport's Coney brings some good songs and sings them well, but the audience seemed to prefer what he was doing to his regular act.

HILLSTREET OPENS WELL.

"notus" who are either too nutty or not nutty enough—it is impossible to say. But the fact remains that they don't quite get across the footlights until the very end of their turn comes, and then one is hardly in shape to be appreciative.

"Proletarianism," George N. Brown's act, also brought across from the Broadway house, closes the show. It is well worth waiting for. Brown makes a good deal out of his ready, remarkable ability to make any of "those" look good.

And for those who are not athletically inclined, there is Brown's partner and competitor, Marion Ardell.

You don't often see such a stunning looking girl as Miss Ardell; she is a young woman of great beauty who has been advertised as "the most perfectly formed women, etc., etc., and she can not only walk, but walk with exceeding grace. There is another in the act, a little girl, who is a real cutie, discovered to be Margaret Maguire, and whom she is, though he did quadriga with the drummer.

The photoplay feature, "Why Announce Your Marriage?" is a high-society comedy, with an element of suspense introduced by the bedroom route, and giving Elaine Hammerstein several opportunities of which she makes good use.

GIDDY EXTRAVAGANZA MOVES MERRILY ON.

A giddy spectacle drama, in which the girl is Queen on a few jewels, "Fool's Paradise" continues flinging its circus wonders before a more or less bedazzled public.

Coney's Coney brings some good songs and sings them well, but the audience seemed to prefer what he was doing to his regular act.
